“In marriage do thou be wise: prefer the person before money, virtue before beauty, the mind before the body; then thou hast a wife, a friend, a companion, a second self.” —William Penn

“When people get married because they think it’s a long-time love affair, they’ll be divorced very soon, because all love affairs end in disappointment. But marriage is a recognition of a spiritual identity.” —Joseph Campbell

“Marriage is an adventure, like going to war.” —G.K. Chesterton

“Three trends in particular affect your perception of marriage every day. First, fewer couples overall are married, and almost everyone’s circle of friends and relatives includes a greater mix of single, cohabiting, married, and divorced people.2 Second, religion, traditionally a major support for marriage, is fading in importance to Americans.3 And the third anti-marriage trend comes directly through our laptops, where Facebook and other social media offer the community, titillation, and entertainment we used to rely on spouses to provide and share.” —Diane Medved

“Many people spend more time in planning the wedding than they do in planning the marriage.”
—Zig Ziglar

“I think that gay marriage should be between a man and a woman.”
—Arnold Schwarzenegger

“As to marriage or celibacy, let a man take which course he will, he will be sure to repent.”
—Socrates

“By all means, marry. If you get a good wife, you'll become happy; if you get a bad one, you'll become a philosopher.” —Socrates

“Marriage is like putting your hand into a bag of snakes in the hope of pulling out an eel.”
—Leonardo da Vinci

“Marriage is a wonderful institution, but who wants to live in an institution?”
—Groucho Marx

“Marriage is like a game of chess except the board is flowing water, the pieces are made of smoke and no move you make will have any effect on the outcome.” —Jerry Seinfeld

“Marriage is an alliance entered into by a man who can't sleep with the window shut, and a woman who can't sleep with the window open.”
—George Bernard Shaw

“I have learned that only two things are necessary to keep one's wife happy. First, let her think she's having her own way. And second, let her have it.”
—Lyndon B. Johnson

“Some people ask the secret of our long marriage. We take time to go to a restaurant two times a week. A little candlelight, dinner, soft music and dancing. She goes Tuesdays, I go Fridays.” —Henny Youngman

“When a man opens a car door for his wife, it's either a new car or a new wife.” —Prince Philip

“If you want to know how your girl will treat you after marriage, just listen to her talking to her little brother.”
—Sam Levenson

“We sleep in separate rooms, we have dinner apart, we take separate vacations - we're doing everything we can to keep our marriage together.”
—Rodney Dangerfield

“All men make mistakes, but married men find out about them sooner.”
—Red Skelton

“The secret of a happy marriage remains a secret.”
—Henny Youngman
